We can postpone the discussion until a week from tomorrow, but we need to do something about your letter now. Are you withdrawing the statements therein (without prejudice, if need be) or must we still assume they remain your client's current position?

John,

Thanks for the emails. I think we'd hope to receive what you have as the current cap table?

I've been busy with other matters but am in the process of reviewing some additional documentation.

How about a call on 10/16 at 9 am Pacific?

Chad,

We look forward to speaking with you Monday morning. In the meantime, I attach a number of other documents, including documents signed by many of apparently Mr. Markosian's family members, as well as officers of his company. These are but a small fraction of the relevant emails and documents, but perhaps they will be sufficient for now to refresh your client's recollection regarding the transaction he has been involved with regularly for the past four years.

We hope you can discuss this further with Mr. Markosian before we speak Monday. As we have discussed, AmeriMark is more than a little perplexed by the statements in your letter of September 16 that he has "no connection or relationship" with AmeriMark. Thanks. john
